Ten Employees Of Borough
Dismissed After Delivering Ultimatum For Pay Raises

Ten employees of the Borough of Stroudsburg yesterday delivered an ultimatum to borough officials that they would not work unless they received an immediate pay increase, borough authorities announced yesterday afternoon.

There was an immediate conference of borough officials. The men were advised there would be no pay increase at this time, since all borough funds had been budgeted, and no formal request had been filed with council when budget meetings were held in January and February.

Men involved were immediately paid off and released from employment. They included street men, garbage truck men and one from the sewerage treatment works.

First contact by the men, including Arthur Alfenese, foreman of the group, was made on Edward C. Hess, engineer and superintendent.

He immediately contacted other borough officials who swiftly made a decision to pay off all ten men.

Steps were immediately taken to obtain a new foreman and a new crew of men. A foreman was obtained on a temporary basis and a crew of men were in the process of being assembled last night. Further work will be done on completing the new crew today.

Alfenese had submitted on behalf of himself and the men requests for increases ranging from $20 per month for himself to from five to ten cents an hour for various workers.

Alfenese was making $3,600 a year, plus mileage for use of his own vehicle.

Affected are men on the garbage truck, now making $1.15 an hour. They asked for five cents more. Street labor men making $1.05 were proposed for increases of from five to ten cents an hour.

Council had advised Mr. Alfenese several days ago that no blanket raises would be given, but that merit increases based on recommendation of the department heads should be submitted to council when budgets are prepared for consideration for increases.

One factor concerning Stroudsburg's method of payment is that men are paid rain or shine and for holidays.

In other words, officials said, unlike the practice of other municipalities, state included, if it rains or there is a holiday the men are paid regular time.

Noted Authors
To Write For
Daily Record

Some of America's best-known authors will begin writing for The Daily Record beginning Monday. Their columns will appear regularly Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

Top-flight writers such as James Michener, Budd Schulberg, Cleveland Amory, Maurice Zolotow, Eugene Lyons, William L. White, Gene Fowler, Robert J. Casey and Upton Sinclair will contribute to a new column which will appear regularly in this newspaper. The column, entitled "For The Record," will be published by The Daily Record exclusively in this area.

The aim of the writers is to provide newspaper readers with the type of sparkling copy which has distinguished their best-selling books. But in "For The Record" they will be commenting almost entirely on topical affairs.

Other contributors will include John Daly of TV's "What's My Line?"; Lawrence Sanders, co-producer of TV's "Meet the Press"; and actors Charles Coburn and Adolph Menjou, both of whom can turn a neat phrase besides emoting before the cameras.

The column will be edited by Victor Lasky, a veteran newspaperman and co-author of the best-selling book on the Alger Hiss case, "Seeds of Treason." Assistant Mr. Lasky will be Barbara Ballou, former editorial assistant on Life magazine.

Wife Divorces
Captured Flier

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—The wife of Capt. Harold Fischer, United States double ace, divorced him the same day he was shot down and reported captured by Communists.

Mrs. Dorothy Fischer, now of San Antonio, Tex., charged mental cruelty with no specific mention against the 27-year-old jet fighter pilot, District Judge Frank McNamee granted the divorce Tuesday. It was learned yesterday.

Captain Fischer, one of the two hottest aces in Korea, was reported missing that same day. The Peiping radio claimed he parachuted from his plane and was captured.

The Swa City, Ia., pilot was flying his 10th mission. He had shot down 10 Russian-built MIGs in previous sorties.

Budget Cut
Part Of Deal
For Sales Tax

Harrisburg, (AP)—The House Republican caucus set its sights yesterday on cutting the commonwealth's proposed budget by $19,265,000 as part of a plan to enact a two-cent sales tax.

The figure was made public by Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, who said he hoped the 100-member caucus will sell the idea of a sales tax to constituents back home.

But Rep. August Metz Jr. (R-Pike), a leading opponent of the sales levy, predicted flatly it won't pass the 1953 Legislature. He said 25 Republicans are against the tax.

Another opponent, Rep. Clair Peiffer (R-Northampton) said in Bangor that "it's a certainty the sales tax will be defeated."

He noted that assemblymen from a number of borderline counties which have easy access to New Jersey are primary factors in dominating the sales levy measure. He noted that representatives from Monroe, Northampton and Pike Counties are on record against the tax. All are Republicans.

"People can cross the Delaware River, shop in New Jersey where there is no sales tax and return to Pennsylvania with a large savings," Peiffer explained.

The assemblyman said he advocates a return of the soft drink tax, pointing out that, although the tax has been dropped, "most stores have kept the same price or increased the price of a five-cent bottle of soda to ten cents."

The budget cuts, recommended by the House Appropriations Committee and already approved by the caucus, would require approval of both the full House and Senate before taking effect.

If passed, the economies would reduce the need for new taxes from 157 millions to about 138 millions. Gov. John S. Fine said 157 millions were needed to balance his proposed $1,400,000,000 budget for the next biennium.

The budget cuts would wipe out completely at least five expendable items. They include the State Recreation Council, for which $150,000 was allocated; care and treatment of alcoholics, $500,000; a proposed animal and poultry disease laboratory at the Pennsylvania State College, $137,500; state aid to the University of Pennsylvania museum, $75,000, and the Pennsylvania Public Safety Commission, $50,000.

Other big slashes percentage-wise include 44 per cent from the proposed $400,000 allocation for deslitting the Schuylkill River; 42 per cent from $625,000 for sealing abandoned coal mines, 33 per cent from $500,000 for Independence Mall, Philadelphia.

In actual money, the largest cuts were five millions from the 110 million dollar budget for public assistance and 2½ millions from the $9,800,000 allocation for school health examinations.

The economies also call for a flat 10 per cent reduction for operation of the State Supreme and Superior Courts and county common pleas courts.

Senate Confirms Appointment

Washington, (AP)—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby was unanimously approved by the Senate yesterday to be the first secretary of health, education and welfare.

The attractive, dark-haired former newspaper publisher from Houston, Tex., will be sworn in today in President Eisenhower's office.

Washington, (AP)—The Republican National Committee elected Leonard W. Hall of New York as chairman yesterday and then heard a plea from President Eisenhower to close ranks for the congressional election battle in 1954.

Eisenhower told the GOP high command there is no longer any room in the party for "Eisenhower Republicans or any other kind of Republicans." This brought a cheer.

His administration is working as a team, the President said and although "there has been a whole lot of a lot in the papers" about differences among Republicans, these reports are just about as exaggerated as the report of Mark Twain's death was.

Hall took over the GOP national chairmanship from C. Wesley Roberts of Kansas, declaring:

"Our first task is to man the dikes for Ike in '54."

Later the members of the committee visited the White House and met the President in the rose garden. He told them he was "delighted" at Hall's selection and pledged his "complete loyalty and sincere co-operation."

The President brought applause from the gathering of about 100 party leaders when he promised to work hard as chief executive. If he fails anywhere along the line, he said, he hopes the leaders will get on the telephone or come to Washington and tell him "where I have gone sour."

The same goes for all his administration, he added.

He and every member of his cabinet, Eisenhower went on, have been astonished at the degree of co-operation they have been getting from members of both parties in Congress.

He said there have been some errors and some differences, but that they were to be expected in a large human organization.

A PINT OF RED CROSS BLOOD, the 74th to date, was received by Miss Shirley Miller, 948 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, at Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, yesterday. Carolyn Phillips, R. N., is the attending nurse. Suffering from a rare blood disease, Miss Miller received 60 pints of blood last year and since being readmitted to the hospital Jan. 11, has received 14 more. A quota of 300 pints has been set for the April 29 Red Cross blood drive at East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Drug Made From Blood Promises To Give
X-Rays Bigger Punch In Fighting Cancer

By Alton L. Blakeslee
AP Science Reporter

Chicago (AP)—A drug made from blood is a hopeful prospect for giving cancers a sucker punch with X-rays.

It may act like a fifth column inside cancer cells, weakening their defense against X-rays. The rays would hit the cancers much harder, with less damage to healthy tissues which don't take in the drug.

Also, the drug may be a good messenger to carry radioactive atoms, piggy-back style, right into cancers, to bathe them with atomic rays.

As yet, these are just prospects, although human tests are under way.

The basic studies so far, and possibilities, were described yesterday to the American Association for Cancer Research by Dr. Frank H. J. Figg, University of Maryland Medical School, and Dr. Ralph Wiesterman, Temple University, Philadelphia.

The drug or chemical is porphyrin, a raw material for giving blood its red color and for making other vital body chemicals.

The tiny slipper-shaped animals, parameria, give the clue that porphyrin makes living cells susceptible to X-rays. Usually, it takes 340,000 Roentgen units of X-rays to kill half of a whole colony of parameria. When the parameria take in porphyrin, an X-ray dose of only 40,000 units kills half of them.

There is good evidence that cancer cells take in porphyrin while most other healthy tissues do not. Tests are under way on 18 humans to see if this happens with injections of porphyrin and might be carried directly to the cancer cells.

The cancer cells which take in porphyrin glow red under ultra violet light.

This could help surgeons tell how far a cancer extends, especially to find the lymph nodes or pathways along which a cancer was spreading out in tiny seeds from one place in the body. The seeds then could be more surely removed.

Porphyrin also goes to the bone marrow and this may offer another clue to attacking leukemia, the cancer of the blood.

Senator Crowe Reappointed
To Interstate Commission

Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, eliminated as a member of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation in 1952, has been reappointed a member of the important body.

A letter from Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, state Republican chairman and president pro tempore of the Senate, dated April 8, advised Sen. Crowe of his reappointment to the commission "to fill a vacancy."

Crowe was "banished from the commission and from the Interstate Commission on Delaware River Basin, reportedly at the orders of Gov. John S. Fine.

The Monroe senator was one of 11 militant GOP senators who helped defeat Fine's proposed one-half of one per cent income tax legislation the 1951 session of the Legislature.

He had served on the commission and Incodet many years. Incodet members are drawn from commission members. Crowe had been secretary-treasurer of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation when he was ousted.

Several days ago Sen. Taylor blasted leaders of all factions of the Republican party at a Harrisburg luncheon. He told them, in effect, they were doing their party no good and that it is time they showed some unity.

Surgeons Remove Surplus Artery

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Six-week-old Wendy Marie Young of nearby Vandergrift is recovering after surgeons removed an artery that should never have been in her body. She would have died in another week, doctors said.

Naturally there is but one artery—the aorta—running from the heart to the head. Wendy had a second and smaller aorta which pressed against her windpipe from the front and was gradually strangling her.

Stevens Declares Ammo Supplies In Good Shape

Washington, (AP)—Investigating senators heard from the new Army secretary yesterday that ammunition supplies in Korea now are "in good shape," but sharp words were leveled at former Pentagon civilian chiefs and Army brass.

Referring to evidence of past shortages, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said that if military leaders "conduct everything as they have this ammunition shortage, the country can have no confidence of security."

Robert T. Stevens, secretary since last February, told the Senate subcommittee investigating the ammunition situation that while "it is clear in my mind there have been serious shortages" at the front lines in the past he now thinks the situation "is currently in good shape."

Soviets Pledge
Aid In Freeing
13 Americans

Washington, (AP)—The State Department said yesterday Russia has promised to help obtain the release of 13 Americans seized by North Korean Communists at the outbreak of the Korean War nearly three years ago.

The department said the Russian Foreign Office notified the American Embassy in Moscow last week-end it would act in response to an appeal from U. S. Minister Jacob Beam.

"The Soviets have agreed to use their good offices," Department Press Officer Michael J. McDermott said, "to intercede with the North Koreans to see if these people can be released."

North Korean authorities claim they hold only seven of the Americans and do not know the whereabouts of the remaining six.

Most of the missing Americans are Roman Catholic (Maryknoll) and Methodist missionaries.

Call For Renewal
Of Truce Talks
Sounded By Reds

Munsan, Saturday (AP)—The Allies and Communists today signed a momentous agreement at Panmunjom for exchanging disabled Korean War captives starting on or before April 21, and the Reds proposed a renewal of full-scale truce talks.

The Reds did not, however, suggest a date for resuming armistice negotiations.

The Allies said the U. N. Command in Tokyo would give an answer.

The truce talks have been deadlocked for a year and suspended since Oct. 8 on the last big issue of an over-all exchange of war prisoners.

The disabled captive exchange pact, negotiated in only five days and signed on the sixth, may provide an approach to solving the larger problem. Top Communist leaders have said they are anxious to resume the full-dress armistice talks at once.

U. S. Rear Adm. John C. Daniel and North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho signed the disabled captive exchange pact at 12:08 p.m. (10:08 p.m., EST, Friday).

They headed the liaison teams which negotiated the 10-point agreement.

Most of the Allied sick and wounded will be rushed to their homes immediately after they cross the line, if they are able to travel.

Those who are not well enough to travel will be taken to hospitals in Japan. The Americans will go to Tokyo and Yokohama.

The exchange must be completed within 30 days.

The Communists will return 600 prisoners, including 120 Americans, 20 British, 15 Canadians, Turks, Greeks and Dutch and the rest South Koreans.

The U. N. Command will return 5,100 North Koreans and 700 Chinese.

Daniel said the Allies announced at the signing they could begin the exchange 72 hours after notifying the Reds. This made it possible the first group of Communists could be returned Tuesday—if the Reds are able to handle the exchange then.

The Reds said they would let Daniel know when they could begin their repatriation.

Daniel and Lee each signed six copies of the agreement, two each in English, Korean and Chinese.

After the signing Daniel said: "It was a pleasure for me to sign this agreement today for repatriation of sick and injured personnel. You will recall that the United Nations has repeatedly urged this move since first making it in December, 1951."

Hopes rose here for a quick resumption of the truce talks.

They were based not only on the swift smooth way in which the disabled captives exchange was negotiated, but also on a new communication from the Reds purporting to offer a "concession" on how to handle prisoners unwilling to be sent home.

In Tokyo, Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. commander, authorized his liaison officers to sign the sick and wounded agreement at Panmunjom. But he withheld comment on the latest Red bid for resumption of the truce talks, which was mainly a restatement of a proposal by Premier Chou En-lai on March 30.

Clark told the Reds March 31 that if the sick and wounded terms could be concluded he was prepared for his liaison officers to discuss reopening the truce talks as the second order of business.

Pravda Sees
No Link With Korean Split

Moscow, Saturday (AP)—Pravda today predicted "total failure" for any Western efforts to tie the questions of Indochina and Korean territorial division with the prisoner negotiations at Panmunjom.

The Pravda editorial came out almost simultaneously with the signing of an Allied-Red agreement at Panmunjom for exchange of disabled prisoners starting April 21.

The Communist party paper charged open and hidden enemies of peace in Korea are using extraneous means to prolong the conflict.

It said they were doomed to failure, no matter how much they tried to sabotage the Panmunjom talks.

On the current negotiation question, Pravda said:

"The positive answer of General (Mark) Clark on exchange of sick and wounded prisoners has put a beginning to the talks at Panmunjom. The broad plan of Chinese Premier Chou En-lai for a solution of the entire problem of repatriation of war prisoners has put on a firm footing the question of a conclusion of an armistice and an end to the war in Korea."

"The course of the prisoner talks demonstrates that first successes have been scored in a just solution of the Korea question."

State Department officials in Washington sidestepped queries yesterday as to whether Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was the source of news stories to the effect that the Eisenhower administration has decided to settle the permanent partition of Korea at a narrow waist of that peninsula.

The stories brought protests from members of Congress and representatives of South Korea who recalled that U. S. policy is to work toward a unified Korea, not a divided country.

Interesting thing about a rope—it rarely becomes tangled when it's serving some useful purpose. It stretches firm and taut . . . teaching . . . holding.

But lay the rope aside . . . waiting without a purpose . . . and it becomes so tangled you can't even find the ends.

Life is like that! For some folks it seems an impossible tangle of conflicts, worries and disappointments. They haven't discovered how to devote their strand of years to a vital, constant purpose.

But for others life stretches firm and taut from birth to Eternity. The tangles disappear as men reach across time to hold certain the truths by which God would have us live.

Life without tangles . . . life with purpose . . . discover it in Church next Sunday!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Cart Before the Horse

The Speaker of the House in Harrisburg was absolutely correct when he said:

"Something has to be done. We can't keep coming back here week after week without making some move. Our duty is to balance the budget."

So said Speaker Charles C. Smith, Philadelphia Republican, after the House Ways and Means Committee reported favorably on a two per cent sales tax earmarked for education.

Mr. Smith was correct in pointing out that members of the Legislature have been coming week after week—12 to be exact—and doing almost nothing.

And he certainly tapped the nail on the head when he said it's the duty of the lawmakers to balance the budget which of now seems to be out of joint by $157,000,000.

But there are several ways to balance a budget. One is to decide what the State is going to spend and then look for money with which to pay the bill.

Another, and this is what the Republicans in the Legislature are doing, is to vote a big new tax and then look for ways to spend it.

The Daily Record submits that the Legislature has the horse away in front of the cart.

Why vote for a new tax, a consumer-absorbed levy, before attempting to trim the budget? A few weak efforts have been made to cut State costs but nothing has come of them.

The Chesterman Report has been all but kicked out as the work of crackpots although many legislators apparently were more eager to dismiss the report quickly than they were to give some of the recommendations an honest try-out.

Nor is there much disposition to shift some of the school costs back to the local communities. In fact, the school lobby in Pennsylvania has pinned upon itself a label reading, "You dare not touch me."

Taxpayers, bedeviled by federal, state and local collectors, must wish they could adopt such a slogan.

So, unless the public wakes up to the danger, and unless the Legislature faces up to its responsibility and puts first things first, Pennsylvania may get the added burden of a sales tax—piled right on top of all its other taxes—by default.

A Valuable Loss

Apparently the Eisenhower Administration is bent on a radical overhaul of federal taxing methods.

The tax system, if it is a system, has been foisted on the American public on a catch-as-catch-can basis.

The high-spending administrations of the last 20 years have called for more and more cash. So Congress, hard put for revenue sources, has just about tapped everything.

All sorts of short-cuts have been devised to speed up collections and taxes have piled up without much regard either to the long-run effect on the government's income or on the general economy.

Double and triple taxation, once carefully avoided, have become commonplace.

The Kaiser-Willies deal is only one of many mergers increasingly taking place between profitable and losing corporations. The tax advantage is seldom, if ever, the sole reason for these mergers. But it is an important incentive.

And it points up the fact that the crazy-quilt tax structure, in which it is possible for a loss to become valuable, is one of the factors chasing small concerns out of business and making bigness a necessity.

The Dictator and the Doctor

Malenkov—Doctor, I'm sorry to have summoned you so fast but I feel terrible.

Doctor—I haven't felt very well myself lately. What are your symptoms?

Malenkov—Something very strange is happening to me. All of a sudden I feel kindly. I even have spells when I am not suspicious of anybody.

Doctor—Hum-hum! Anything else?

Malenkov—Last night a terrible thing happened to me: I saw an American on the street and didn't instantly cry, "War-monger."

Doctor—This is really alarming. I hope it won't be necessary to operate.

Malenkov—Why are you shaking so?

Doctor—After all, we Russian doctors have been left very nervous. The allegations that we were conspirators who killed our patients knocked us flat.

Malenkov—I repudiated all such stuff the minute I felt sick. I assure you that all Russians now consider their doctor a decent human being and wholly trustworthy.

Doctor—Would you put that in writing?

Malenkov—Pravda has already put it in writing.

Doctor—But I'm not treating Pravda.

Malenkov—Believe me when I say again that Russian physicians are above suspicion. Go ahead and diagnose my case. You are safe no matter what you find.

Doctor—Does that hold true whether you feel better or worse after my prescription?

Malenkov—Certainly, but I hope you are smart enough to see that I feel better. I didn't sleep a wink all night. That's why I called you.

Doctor—I didn't sleep the rest of the night. That's because you called me. Give me some more symptoms. Do you have that all-gone feeling?

Malenkov—No; my opponents have it.

Doctor—Do you have shortness of breath?

Malenkov—No, do you?

Doctor—Only when I get a call like this. Let me feel your pulse. (He feels it.) I wouldn't call it fast and I wouldn't call it slow.

Malenkov—Why not?

Doctor—A friend of mine took a positive position on a Kremlin leader's pulse beat and wound up in Siberia. However, I'll leave you some pills. If you don't get immediate relief it will make a sick man of me.

Malenkov—How many do I take?

Doctor—Two after each meal until you get rid of those spells of brotherly love and kindness.

Malenkov—Okay. If I have a relapse I'll phone you.

Doctor—And if I answer you can phone my psychiatrist!

Elmer Twitchell says the world is so full of peace gestures just now that even the delegations to U. N. may have to stop fighting.

Next news from Kremlin may be that the Siberian salt mines have been converted into an outdoor movie theater and picnic park.

We won't believe Russia has really done a complete switch until Vishinsky gets up in the General Assembly and instead of making an attack chirps, "Tennis, anyone?"

Or when the Polish delegate rises and says, "I propose to be brief and reasonable." Taft and Eisenhower played together in a foursome the other day and both had scores in the nineties.

They say they both were unsettled from the first hole when their caddies admitted they were Democrats.

We suppose any opponent of the new Secretary General of U. N. will say, "I don't dig DAG." Patricia O'Brien has been named "Miss Page One" by the Newspaper Guild, and she is so good-looking there will be demands for a make-over.

Billy Eckstine, famous singer, was before the court last week for ignoring traffic tickets going back as far as 1950.

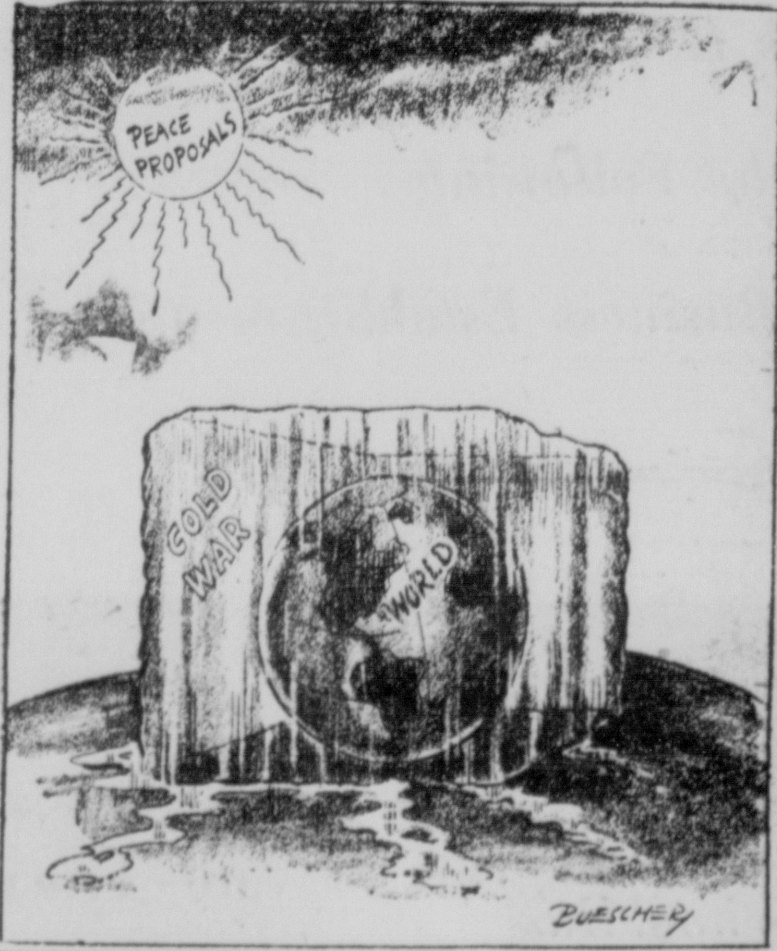

Billy said he was sorry and sang, "Why Don't You Believe Me?"

Omigosh! The true talk open up once more.

But cynical I am: For look who's in the act again.

Our old "friend," General NAM!

Attention of the Editor:
Dear Sir:

I took particular interest in the Saturday, April 4th, issue of the newspaper "The Daily Record." I refer to the front page. Truly to me it was an outstanding piece of newspaper work. More of our daily newspapers should stimulate American thinking people by such a full page history of The Man Christ Jesus and to us who believe in Him—our wonderful Savior and Lord.

May your paper be especially blessed by this tribute to Him.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Horace:

Congratulations on your "Sunday Edition" printed Saturday, April 4th. I am not a newspaper man but as a humble everyday reader of your paper I would say this edition is tops.

Incidentally, I am enclosing 50 cents for five copies which will be sent to friends whom I believe will appreciate this excellent edition of your paper.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Heller:

Before another day goes by I should like you to know how much we appreciate the excellent coverage that you have given the churches during the Lenten Season. No local newspaper could have done more.

I was particularly impressed by the Lenten Meditations. The fact that they were on the first page in such a choice position was of invaluable help to us. Last Saturday's front page featuring the Resurrection of Jesus was both startling and beneficial. We had more people out at church on that day than we have had in many months.

George Sokolsky Says...

Commie Situation Complicated By Fact No Law Makes Party Membership Criminal

Is It A Crime?

Some time ago, I wrote that it is not a crime in this country to be a Communist and that I could not stand under the American way of life.

The Communist situation has become complicated by the fact that there is no law making membership in the Communist Party a crime. But the Smith Act, tested in the case of "The Eleven" in New York before Judge Harold Medina, and upheld by the United States Supreme Court, did establish that Eugene Dennis and his comrades did conspire to organize the Communist Party as a group to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence.

Here then is a conflict of ideas, namely, that while it is not a crime to be a member of the Communist Party, it is a crime to organize to teach and advocate the overthrow of the American Government by force and violence. A lawyer writes me that were a Communist client to seek his advice he would therefore be forced to advise his client to take refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Another point that is made by a lawyer deserves quotation: "The answer to a question need not be in itself incriminating in order for the privilege against self-incrimination to become operative. If the answer to a question might furnish a clue to the commission of a crime, or form a link in a chain of circumstances which might tend to incriminate, a person is entitled to raise the privilege. Now, while membership in the Communist Party in itself is not a crime, admission of membership therein might give a clue or a link to the government to identify the individual as a known member of a conspiracy to advocate the violent overthrow of the government, punishable under the Smith Act of 1940. Thus, so long as the Smith Act is on the books, an individual can refuse to answer the question on the grounds of self-incrimination."

Nevertheless, if a man is guilty, as most Americans are, of any act, in all their lives, against the United States, I cannot understand why he should fear self-incrimination. If he fears that something that he might say could be implication or construction get him into trouble, then he must know that he did something wrong or that he associated wrong.

I am also told: "... Under the present decisions of the Supreme Court, if a person once answers that he is not a member of the Communist Party, it would probably be held that he had waived all his rights to refuse to answer any other questions whatsoever about Communism."

However, if a person has not performed an act against the United States, who should be not be willing to answer questions concerning Communism, the answers being designed to aid the United States? For example, suppose I happened to witness a murder but no one saw me witness it, should I not notify the police, lest I be questioned about myself and why I was there?

There is a question need not be in itself incriminating in order for the privilege against self-incrimination to become operative. If the answer to a question might furnish a clue to the commission of a crime, or form a link in a chain of circumstances which might tend to incriminate, a person is entitled to raise the privilege. ### WANTED FOR MURDER

The annals of bizarre crimes now include the case of Fred McManus. This 18-year-old killer was considered a "model boy" in his community. The wild streak that lurked in his subconscious suddenly exploded in a stream of hot lead and five innocent people were destroyed.

McManus had everything to live for—but chose Death and the Devil.

Killers frequently follow a weird psychological pattern. They are afflicted with a twisted ego that comes slithering out of the darkness of their minds. Bayard Peakes was a ghastly illustration. He shot young Eileen Fahey to attract attention for his "research" ... Dillinger's downfall was hastened by a wild streak of self-esteem. The gunman was proud of his mustache. Although he submitted to plastic surgery, in an effort to remove identifying marks—Dillinger refused to shave the lip foliage. That made identification simple for law-enforcers and helped send him to Hell.

The conceit of some public enemies often verges on pure snobbery. Incredible as it seems, the underworld has a rigid caste system ... Alvin Karpis' criminal record encompassed bank-robbing, kidnapping and murder. After he was nabbed, J. Edgar Hoover called him a hoodlum. Karpis was astonished by what he considered a breach of etiquette. "I am not a hoodlum," he sulked. "I'm a thief."

The mobster then explained the subtle difference—which merits for a living—like robbing a bank or kidnapping somebody. He really gives some effort to his work. A hoodlum is a lousy scum who works for gangsters and bumps guys off.

Mr. FBI froze Karpis with a stare and intoned: "From my standpoint, you're still a hoodlum."

Karpis, incidentally, had a familiar set-up before he got his come-uppance. He bribed local police officials and contributed hush money to the campaigns of shoddy politicians ... The extent of his influence can be gauged by this: Shortly before he was apprehended, Karpis enjoyed a honeymoon in the sumptuous summer mansion of a leading Chicago politico. Exclamation point.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch once shrewdly baited a plunder-world chief. Learning he was an egomaniac, the paper published several complimentary pieces about him ... The mobster was delighted with the scrapbook contris and permitted several exclusive interviews ... The reporter pumped him and collected enough evidence for a page one exciter plus an indictment ... The hammy hoodlum's final headline disclosed he was hanged.

The ascendancy of crime reporting was inspired by James Gordon Bennett. Before he exploded on the journalistic scene, murder represented a taboo word ... Such yarns were either exiled to Siberia spots in dailies or completely snubbed ... The murder of Helen Jewett (in a bordel) gave Bennett an opportunity to eradicate the prim tradition ... He splashed the story across the front page and obtained interviews with prostitutes who were acquainted with the victim ... Competitors were appalled and vigorously deplored Bennett's actions. Later they were forced to follow suit when the circulation of his paper rocketed.

The revolutionary change in crime reporting inaugurated by Bennett was exemplified by the Snyder-Gray murder case coverage. A survey noted that the case consumed more space in the generally prissy N. Y. Times than in the torrid tabloids.

Alec Woolcott spotted the reason for widespread public interest in the Snyder-Gray case. He wrote: "Ruth Snyder was so like the woman across the street that many an American husband was soon haunted by an unconfessed realization that she also bore an embarrassing resemblance to the woman across the breakfast table."

The tong wars that raged in the Big Burg during the early 1900s provided the most gory chapters in murder annals. After one bloody tong battle on the streets of Chinatown—there was a casualty list of 50 dead and 175 wounded.

Y.M.C.A. Campaign Workers To Hold First Report Meeting

The Monroe County Y.M.C.A. Building Fund Campaign organization will make its first report Monday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Workers will turn in their individual report envelopes to the Auditing Committee under the direction of Floyd Wilmoth. There will be an auditor for each division. Holt Wyckoff, general co-chairman will preside at the meeting. C. R. Gilliam will report for the Special Gifts Committee. Dinner will be served promptly at 6:15 p.m.

On the program will be a special message from Jimmy Welsh and Alta DeVivo. The community singing will be led by Robert Haigh, accompanied by Albert E. DeRenzis. Mrs. Frances Hartzel Meredith will sing a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Eloise Lewis.

The main speaker will be Clarence Mease, general secretary of the Orange, N. J., Y.M.C.A., an area and local secretary of many years' experience.

Section leaders will call on division managers who in turn will call on their captains for reports. Reports will be placed on a giant scoreboard. Special recognition will be given to quota-busting individuals and teams. The hostesses of the division turning out the best attendance will receive special recognition. More prospect cards for those who need them will be available.

Flory To Address Exchange Meeting

Jesse S. Flory will be principal speaker at Monday night's meeting of Exchange Club in East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Flory, associated with LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery, will speak on "changes in gardening over the past 50 years."

Another "Boy of the Month" award will be made at the meeting.

Wholesale Prices Show No Change

Washington, (AP) — Wholesale price as measured by the government remained unchanged in the week ended April 7.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting this yesterday, said its index held steady at 109.8 per cent of the 1947-9 price average.

The bureau reported an increase of .06 per cent in the average price farm products. Gains were recorded for corn, cows, hogs, lambs and eggs and some fresh fruits and vegetables.

A decline in prices of processed foods was caused mainly by lower prices for bacon, ham, and some fish products.

Lafayette Grad Offers $2,000 Scholarship

A special $2,000 four-year scholarship to Lafayette College in Easton is being set up for the benefit of male Monroe County high school graduates.

Announcement of the scholarship, financed by a well-known county resident who is a Lafayette alumnus, was made yesterday at a special meeting of Monroe County principals in the Penn-Stroud.

William Greenip, assistant director of admissions at the Easton college, discussed the scholarship with principals and county school officials John C. Litts and Walter H. Sebring at the noon luncheon.

The scholarship — paying $500 per year for a four-year period — will be awarded through competition to "a Monroe County boy whose academic record, extra-curricular activities and personality would be considered most worthy representative for the county."

Outline of the competitive plan by Greenip calls for selection or recommendation of specific students to compete for the scholarship by their local principals.

When the recommended students have been named they will be tested at Lafayette and entertained "for the day" by the college, Greenip said.

Winner of the scholarship will be picked by the faculty admissions committee of the college. One winner and two alternates will be chosen.

Competition will be carried out in close cooperation with the office of Mr. Litts, county superintendent of schools, Greenip said.

One of the primary purposes behind establishment of the scholarship, the admissions official indicated, is "to develop warmer relationship between schools in Monroe county and the college itself."

"We are trying to make our college a source of information about college life to assist boys in Monroe county in making their selection of a school for higher education."

This need, Greenip said, is recognized by both college officials and the unidentified donor of the $2,000 scholarship.

Emphasizing that the man who is financing the scholarship is a resident of Monroe county, Greenip said the donor "preferred to remain anonymous" at the present time.

Attending the noon luncheon meeting, in addition to Greenip, Litts and Sebring were Ralph O. Burrows, East Stroudsburg High School; Lawrence Wile, Pocono; Harry T. Young, Polk; John C. Mills, Chestnut Hill; Alfred W. Munson, Stroudsburg High School; Warren Nonemaker, Coolbaugh; C. Willis Dunlap, Tobyhanna and Andrew Lewis, Barrett.

Commandery To Meet

Fire Extensively Damages Store At Pocono Pines

Pocono Pines — Fire gutted the basement of Bonser's Economy Store here last night.

Owner of the store is Edward Judge. Judge is also chief of the Tobyhanna Volunteer Fire Co.

Fire apparently broke out in the stockroom-cellar of the store at "about 7:15 p.m." Judge said.

Firemen had the blaze under control at 9 p.m. Using three trucks, an estimated 60 volunteers prevented the blaze from causing extensive damage to other floors of the three-story building.

Some fire damage was done to the building's side, Judge said. Rattlers in the cellar were badly charred by the blaze.

Basement of the store was used for supply storage. Extent of damages and exact origin of the fire were not determined last night, according to Mr. Judge.

When firemen arrived on the scene, the blaze had burst through windows and was beginning to travel up the side of the building, observers reported.

Firemen, working without masks, were forced to use hit-and-miss tactics during their initial efforts to bring the blaze under control.

When the flames had been beaten back from the building's exterior, fire fighters worked their way inside.

All three stories of the shop were filled with thick, acrid smoke. Still hampered by lack of masks, firemen tore smoldering siding from a portion of the building, trained the spray from hoses on flame-seared studding.

Smoke and water damages to supplies may be extensive.

Fire Chief Judge—accustomed to hearing expressions of gratitude from others whose homes or businesses have been saved through the efforts of his volunteer fire company—had a good reason to express his own thanks last night.

Said Mr. Judge: "I wish you'd say something in the story about the wonderful job the fire company did."

Truck Rams Front Of School Bus

Blakeslee — A minor accident involving a school bus and a tractor-trailer truck occurred yesterday 15 miles north of Brodheads ville.

State police, Brodheads ville sub-station, said the accident occurred on Route 115 at about 4:10 p.m.

John Kolnik Jr., Long Pond, operator of a school bus owned by Thurston Blakeslee, pulled off to the shoulder to discharge a passenger, police said.

Blinker warning lights on the bus were in operation. Sheldon Kleintop, Huntington Mills, Luzerne County, was operating his truck on the highway, moving in the same direction, police said.

Kleintop saw the blinker lights, touched his brakes, preparing to stop, according to police.

The truck moved to the center of the highway, jackknifed and turned completely around. Tires on the trailer portion of the truck struck the front of the school bus.

Four students were riding on the bus. One student was in the process of leaving the bus.

No one was injured in the accident, police said.

Auto Strikes Halted Train; Driver Injured

Pocono Summit — A 25-year-old Mount Pocono man who drove his car into the side of a passenger train stopped on tracks here at 10:50 a.m. yesterday, was reported in "fair condition" last night at General Hospital.

State police, Mount Pocono sub-station, said Francis A. Duling, Belmont Ave., Mount Pocono, suffered cuts on the scalp and bruises of the chest and right knee in the accident.

According to police, Duling's auto ran into the side of a DL and W passenger train. The train was discharging passengers at the Pocono Summit station in a dense fog.

Duling was driving on Route 940 when he rammed the train. He was taken to the hospital by Dr. E. O. Headrick, Mount Pocono.

No one on board the train was injured, according to Pfc. Robert Latzo. Engineer on the train was Albert Tunney, 319 New St., Scranton.

A wrecker called to the scene worked for almost an hour disengaging the automobile from the train coach. Police estimated damages to the car at $1,000.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Hostetter

Edwin Hostetter Is Married To College Schoolmate

The marriage of Miss Frances H. Bassett, daughter of Mrs. Howard W. Bassett and the late Mr. Bassett of Interlaken, N. Y., and J. Edwin Hostetter, son of Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Hostetter, of East Stroudsburg, took place at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, April 4, in the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Harlan H. Clayton, pastor, and Rev. Benjamin H. Hostetter, father of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony.

White gladioli and snapdragons, palms and candelabra decorated the church.

A program of wedding music was presented by Robert Merz, of Brooklyn, organist and John Atwood, of Perry, vocal soloist. Mr. Atwood sang Cadman's "At Dawning," Isabella Firestone's "I Could Tell You," Barby's "O Perfect Love" and Lovelance's "Wedding Benediction." Just before the ceremony itself, the bridegroom sang to his bride Carter's "I Take Thee, Dear."

Given in marriage by her twin brother, Charles W. Bassett of Deposit, the bride wore a gown of lace and tulle over satin, fashioned with a deep yoke, fitted bodice and full skirt with train. Her finger-tilt veil of French illusion edged with lace fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, with an orchid and showers of white satin streamers.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Mary Ridall, of White Haven, wore a gown of yellow nylon tulle and lace over taffeta with matching headpiece and mitts. She carried a bouquet of blue iris and yellow snapdragons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Jeffers, cousin of the bride of Gosham, and Miss Bernina Hostetter, sister of the bridegroom, of East Stroudsburg. They wore gowns identical in style to the maid of honor, but were in ice blue. Their bouquets were yellow iris and snapdragons.

Stephen Calhoun, of Houghton, was best man, and the ushers were David Hostetter, brother of the bridegroom, Valleyfield, Quebec, and Daniel Bassett, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Helen Bassett, the bride's mother, wore navy blue crepe with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. The bridegroom's mother also wore navy blue crepe, navy and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hostetter are graduates of Houghton College. Mrs. Hostetter received her master's degree from Albany State Teachers College and is a member of the Kendall Central School faculty. Mr. Hostetter will receive his master's degree from Albany in June.

Pre-nuptial parties included a luncheon and variety shower given Mrs. James Chase and Mrs. Richard Worrell, of Interlaken; a variety shower at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Forbes, of Kendall; a luncheon and variety shower by Mrs. Gilbert Forbes, of Kendall; a luncheon and variety shower by Mrs. George R. Harris, of Gosham; a variety shower by the Sophomore girls of Kendall Central School; a variety shower by the Tremont Chapel Young People's Group in Albany and a general discussion, and is asked to bring a camera and friends to take pictures. The meeting will begin at 7:30.

It seems to me that Mother's Day is becoming a bit more complicated... or at least "all inclusive"... with every year. Maybe this is good. But I must admit that it was something of a shock yesterday afternoon to see by the rack in our middle aisle that people are now sending cards to those friends still in the stage where "coming events cast their shadows before".

Motherhood, I think, is one of the most wonderful blessings women can ever enjoy. Those who have experienced it, will tell you frankly that it's an incredible miracle, bringing a human being just about as near to the Creator as she can ever hope to come short of death. For this reason I think that everything about the subject should be treated with reverence and respect.

If a man wants to send his wife a card telling her she's just about perfect and that he loves her, I'm all for it—whether he spends a dime to say it with a twinkle in his verse or a dollar to say it with flowers, cushioned satin puffs, ribbons, and sonnets that would put Elizabeth Barrett Browning to shame. And I think it's thoughtful and cute to have cards especially designed for the brand new mother... cards in pretty pastel tints with verses that tug at the heart.

It's just that this card for the Mother-to-Be has me momentarily stymied, and I shudder to think of what Emily Post might say about it. It's adorable... I grant you that. But it would seem to me that an artist, working on an illustration to be sent a young woman expecting a child, could have dreamed up something more suitable than a fluffy cat wearing a sash, and knitting away in blissful preparation. And certainly the writer must have been having a sad day when the verse produced for such an occasion concentrated upon how happy the recipient will be when it's no longer necessary to wear SMOCKS!

As I was saying at the top of the column, it certainly seems that Mother's Day is becoming involved. One glance at the racks shows us "A Mother's Day Greeting for a Friend of Mine"... "A Mother's Day Greeting for a Secret Pal"... "A Greeting on Mother's Day to My Other Mother"... "A Mother's Day Message to Someone Who's Been Nice to Me"... "To Grandmother on Mother's Day"... "To My Dear Daughter on Mother's Day"... "Lots of Love to Sister on Mother's Day" and last, but not the least curious of all, "To a Very Nice SISTER-IN-LAW on Mother's Day".

I wonder if next year they'll have cards for those poor, overlooked women... the mothers who have birthdays, wedding anniversaries or operations on Mother's Day? And why doesn't someone print an envelope the right size for some beautiful greenbacks... just in case there's a mother somewhere whose mortgage comes due on Mother's Day?

(P.S. If ever such sentiments are available, you can bet we'll have them at Wyckoff's. There never was a more complete card rack than ours!)

Playground Personnel Hired; Pavilion Under Construction

East Stroudsburg's Board of Recreation began work this week on a picnic pavilion to be erected at the Day St. playground.

Work on the pavilion is being carried out as a part of the board's plan for revamping and improving the grounds.

Employees are now grading, seeding and engaged in general process of "cleaning up" the grounds.

Some personnel vacancies have also been filled for the Summer season by the board.

Among those hired were the following:

Beverly Long, 271 Broadhead Ave., supervisor of girls playground;

Frank Presty, 201 Smith St., boys playground supervisor; Myrna Spangler, 422 N. Courtland, and

Nancy Pensyl, Lenox Ave., basket room attendants; Mary Sue Harvey, Maple Ave., lifeguard; Janet Armitage, 299 Broadhead, concession stand operator and Jane Slut-

ter, Lackawanna Ave., bath house

casher.

Lewis Hastie, East Stroudsburg

High School faculty member, has been elected director of the playground again this year, a post he has held for more than ten years.

The recreation board is still looking for lifeguards, preferably

male, according to a board member. Applicants should contact Leon

Koster, president of the board or other board members about Summer jobs.

School Band Plans Concert

Scholarship To Honor T-B Official

Buck Hill Falls—An annual $2,000 scholarship will be given by the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society to some resident of the state of high character for the study of public health.

The scholarship will cover a four year course in public health in some school with a recognized course in public health.

It will be known as the Arthur Markley Dewees scholarship in honor of a man who has served the state society as executive secretary 33 years.

Mr. Dewees was present at yesterday's final luncheon session of the society when the surprise scholarship announcement was made by Frens B. Snyder, secretary of the society.

Mr. Snyder presented Mr. Dewees, a noted authority in public health and tuberculosis society work, with a citation and announced the scholarship in his honor.

The former executive secretary, who held the post from 1919 through 1952, was obviously moved by the honor.

Peil Points Out Importance Of Alert Public Health Unit

Buck Hill Falls—"What is more important than to have a fine, competent, alert public health unit to safeguard our health," declared Norman A. Peil, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the State Association of County Commissioners, in a paper, "Home Rule in Public Health," read yesterday at the 61st annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society. The three-day convention concluded in the afternoon.

Peil, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Northampton County, said that the county health department can "promote and improve the health status of the population through the proper inspection of eating places, supervision of the production of food, case finding programs and clinics for detection of diseases, treatment facilities for infectious cases, nursing services, laboratory work, general sanitation, prevention of epidemics and a program of health education."

Peil's paper was read at the public health session by Dr. Pascal F. Lucchesi, executive vice president and medical director of the Albert Einstein Medical Center, Philadelphia.

Speakers were Dr. Russell E. Teague, Pennsylvania secretary of health whose subject was "Sound Public Health Administration," and Dr. David H. Kurtzman, director of research, Pennsylvania Economy League's western division whose title was "New Standards in Public Health Administration."

At the luncheon program Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg, offered invocation. Dr. Robert V. Cohen, president of the Pennsylvania Trudeau Society presided. Speaker was Dr. Rene J. Dubos, member of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York.

Maguire To Speak At YMCA Award Dinner

Basketball Players, Teams To Be Honored

Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner of Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association officials and a member of the National Rules Committee, will be the featured speaker at the annual Award Dinner to be held at the Monroe County YMCA. The dinner is slated for Wednesday, April 22, at 6:15 p.m.

Maguire, a resident of East Stroudsburg, is one of the leading speakers in the country and one of the nation's foremost authorities on sports.

George Metropoulos, athletic director at the YMCA, announced last night that the program would feature a spaghetti dinner this year.

Sandy Stops Beau In Eighth Round

New York, (AP)—The second round of the 1953 amateur boxing season ended today at the Madison Square Garden when 11 of the fastest sprinters in the business took off in the 22nd running of the $20,000-added Jamaica Handicap.

Jan Burke's Squared Away, brilliant winner of the Paumonok Handicap on Jamaica's opening day, probably will be the public favorite in the six furlong test. But the six-year-old son of Piping Rock must pack high weight of 130 pounds. No horse ever has won the Jamaica Handicap with that burden. He had only 125 pounds in the Paumonok, when he won in a front-running gallop by three big lengths.

Accent On Speed At Jamaica Today

New York, (AP)—The accent will be on speed today at Jamaica race track when 11 of the fastest sprinters in the business take off in the 22nd running of the $20,000-added Jamaica Handicap.

East Stroudsburg Little League Announces Dates For Registration Of Diamond Hopefuls

East Stroudsburg Little League started the ball rolling for the 1953 campaign on Thursday night, at a meeting attended by 100 people at East Stroudsburg Junior High school.

The Eastburg circuit agreed to hold registration of players on Monday and Tuesday, April 20 and 21, at the East Stroudsburg Little League field, from 5 to 7 p.m. on each day.

Each boy between the ages of eight and 12 wishing to play in the league is asked to bring a birth certificate to the registration.

Several committees were appointed at the recent meeting. Paul Lloyd, Paul Dellaria and Kennard Lewis were slated for the finance committee.

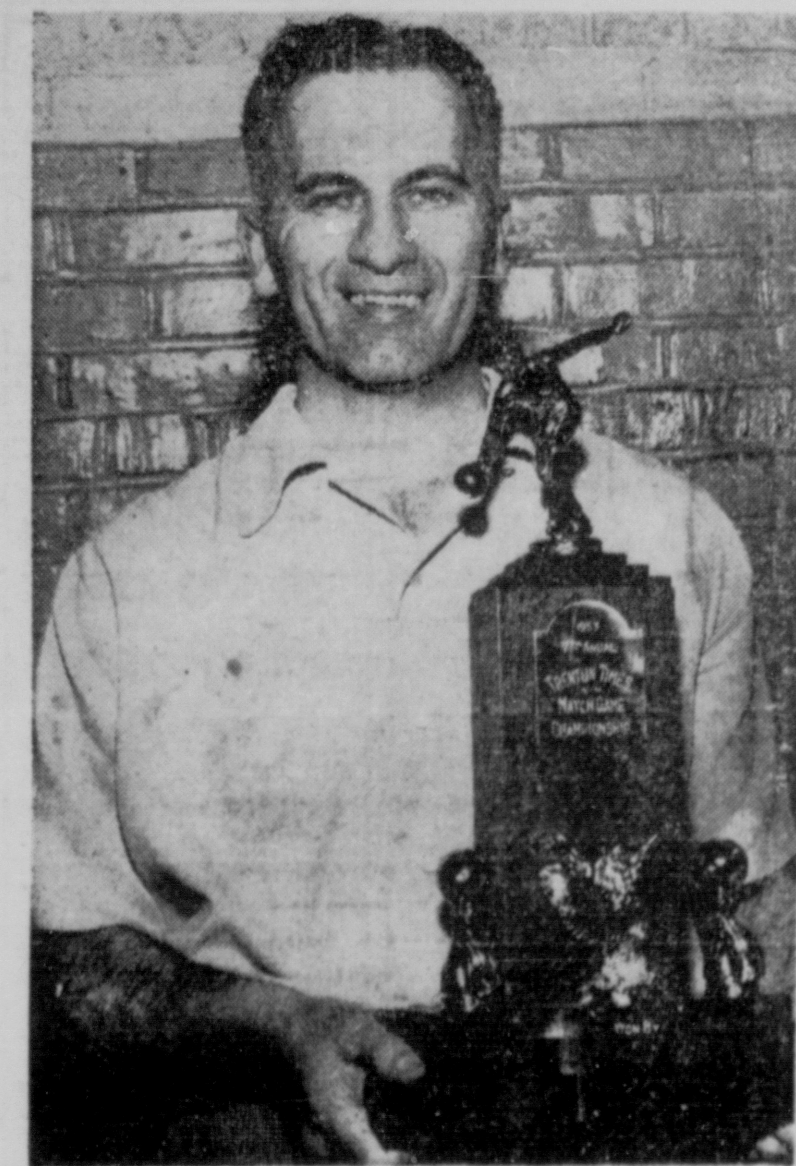

Dr. Evan C. Reese will serve as chairman of the equipment committee, while Frank Laise heads the umpires for the second straight season. An organization of scorers will also be formed for the coming campaign.

Gordon Coy Sr. and Dr. Perry Bean will make up the publicity committee.

The East Stroudsburg Little League Ladies Auxiliary will operate again this season. Election of officers will take place following the registration of players, at which time an entirely new slate of officers will be named.

Repairs to the field and the construction of a practice field will also be taken care of in the near future. The practice team will be between left field and the regular park and the creek.

Ads will also be sold for the fence.

VISITING KEGLER—Vince Lucci, holder of virtually every bowling title in New Jersey, at one time or other, will be the featured keglar in an exhibition at Harmon's Recreation today, at 8 p.m. Lucci will be called upon to test his skill against Jake Nittel, Jack Darr, Tom Sommers and Bob Weisenflue, four of the top bowlers in this area. Lucci is shown above holding one of his many trophies.

Hogan Takes Over Top Spot In Second Round Of Masters Play

Augusta, Ga., (AP)—Ben Hogan, the grim little golfer who once had a Masters Tournament dedicated to him, took charge of another Masters yesterday as he shot his way into the lead at the 36-hole mark.

Hogan, followed by a tremendous week-day gallery of 8,000, put a round of 69 on top of Thursday's 70 for a two-day total of 139. That's five strokes under par for Augusta National, the spacious and soul-testing course in the red clay hills of East Georgia.

Augusta's par, always hard to beat, is 36-36-72 for the 6,900 yard layout.

At the end of play in the second round, which started in a thunderstorm and ended in bright sunshine, Hogan had just a one-stroke margin over the portly Evansville, Ind., veteran, Bob Hamilton, and two over Chick Harbert of Detroit, the first-day leader, and chunky Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y.

Lakers Win NBA Crown

New York, (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers two-platoon New York for a 20-point lead, then held off a frantic Knickerbocker rally for a 91-84 victory last night to win their fourth National Basketball Association championship in the past five years.

After the Minneapolis second-stringers built up a 44-35 halftime lead, the first team came back in and increased the margin to 55-35. The Knickerbockers, who bowed to the same team in seven games, tried the NBA finals last year, tried mightily after that and put the crowd in a frenzy by pulling to within one point at 85-84 with 35 seconds to play.

Castellano, Brown Tie For Third Spot

Chicago, (AP)—Grazz Castellano, Jackson Heights, N. Y., and Joe Brown, Jersey City, N. J., rolled 1,332 to gain a third place tie in the doubles event of the American Bowling Congress yesterday.

Salesmen

The two bowling supply salesmen fell seven pins short of the 1,339 with which Eddie Koepf and Joe Klossoff, Cleveland, O., have been leading the doubles standings since March 25.

(Editor's note: Brown bowled an exhibition match in Stroudsburg recently, at the Pocono Bowling Center.)

Reds Triumph Over Tigers

Cincinnati, (AP)—The home-rundominated Cincinnati Reds found the range three times again yesterday to whip the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 4, in an exhibition game before only 1,012 fans at chilly Crosley Field.

Circuit Blow

Wally Post, Jim Greengrass and Ted Kluszewski homered off losing pitcher Billy Hoelt as the Reds downed the Tigers for the second straight day.

Sandy Stops Beau In Eighth Round

New York, (AP)—Handy Sandy, 22-year-old New York middleweight stopped Jimmy Beau, New Canaan, Conn., on a technical knockout last night in 2:03 of the eighth round because of a cut over Beau's right eye. Beau weighed 161, Sandy 153 1/2.

Referee Percy Scalzo stepped between the two boys in the eighth after Dr. Vincent Nardiello had visited Beau's corner four times to examine the cut.

All three officials had Sandy, a 13 to 5 favorite, way out front in the nationally televised bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Referee Percy Scalzo stepped between the two boys in the eighth after Dr. Vincent Nardiello had visited Beau's corner four times to examine the cut.

YOU CAN ENJOY MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL EVERY DAY On The Coaxial Cable

Television Survey: According to a recently conducted survey of set owners who receive their signals from roof antennas in the Stroudsburg 17.01% of the programs viewed were American (ABC); 22.94% were Columbia (CBS); 50.97% were National (NBC); and 9.49% were telecast by Independent Stations. Of all the programs viewed 94.89% are available on the coaxial cable operated by POCONO TV RELAY, INC. Although this survey was financed by POCONO TV it was conducted completely independent of the company. Questionnaires were mailed to an equal number of residents in each town.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Harry Warner, optioned to Atlanta, of the Southern Association, by Toledo, an American Association club, has been sent to Jacksonville, Fla., by Atlanta. Jacksonville is a member of the class "A" South Atlantic League. When Warner, who had been hitting near the 300 mark for Toledo during the Spring grind, reported to Atlanta, he was the fifth first baseman on the club. The resident of Redwood wasn't given any kind of chance to stick with the Crackers, but was quickly sent to Jacksonville.

It becomes more obvious each day that major league and high minor league teams aren't decided in Spring training, but rather are put together during the long Winter months. It takes a player of unheard of talent to break into the array of talent set up by the front office force. It is unfair to both players and fans alike to have good ball players shifted to all parts of the country, because another performer has a better name or the backing of an organization's front office.

Now that Al Adelman isn't certain of entering the Naval Academy, the Georgia Tech. Al was terribly disappointed, and rightfully so, when four unknown cavities showed up in a recent dental examination. Adelman, who has compiled an outstanding athletic and scholastic record at Stroudsburg High in recent years, is now second alternate or third in line for an Annapolis appointment from this area.

Adelman captained both the basketball and football teams at Stroudsburg High during the respective seasons just completed. Stroudsburg High's basketball team will sport 10 new uniforms this Spring. The uniforms are scheduled to arrive some time early this week. The movement of bleachers into left field at Gordon Giffels field will reduce the distance from home plate at that point from 330 to 335 feet, which is still plenty alright for high school baseball.

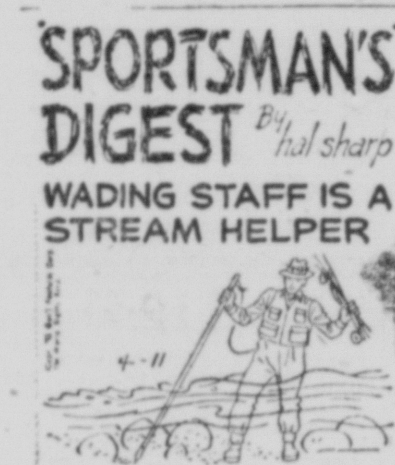

Jim Harmon bowled against Vince Lucci, the former's guest at Harmon's Recreation today, when both rolled in Seranton 15 years ago. Ray Welsh, former basketball coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and now one of the top scouts for the Pittsburgh Pirates, is expected home from Brunswick, Ga., this weekend. Welsh, a resident of 1061 Dreher Ave., has been working with Pirate farmhands for the past month.

Several officers of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League enjoyed a T-bone steak dinner at Lake Harmony Inn this week, as the guest of Clinton Getz, circuit president. Those present included John Wornett, league secretary; M. N. Warner, treasurer; Harry Janson, vice president; and Bill Cassati, owner of Bartonville Hotel. The circuit holds its monthly meetings at Bartonville Hotel. Don Herman, reserve outfielder for the East Stroudsburg High baseball team, has come up with a case of water on the knee.

Larry Klieck, sports editor of the Stroud Courier and a member of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College football team, was recently elected to the National Executive Board of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Vince Tonassetti, former football and baseball star at ESSTC, is now managing the Old Forge Orioles, a Midvalley Association entry. Vince, who played fullback and first base in college, also received a trial with the Stroudsburg Poconos one year.

Hopeful Wires Swamp "Babe"

Beaumont, Tex., (AP)—Messages by the thousands flooded "Babe" Didrikson Zaharias yesterday expressing hope for her recovery from a malady that may end her great athletic career.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST
By Hal Sharp
WADING STAFF IS A STREAM HELPER
A WADING STAFF AIDS GREATLY IN FEELING OUT DEEP HOLES IN A QUIET STREAM OR AS A PROP FOR STABILITY IN CROSSING A SWIFT STREAM. BAMBOO MAY BE USED BUT HARDWOOD ABOUT BROOMSTICK SIZE AND 5/2 TO 6 FT. LONG IS EASIER TO HANDLE IN A STRONG CURRENT. FIX A LEATHER THING TO THE TOP END. IN USE, KEEP IT TIED TO YOUR BELT TO AVOID LOSING WHEN FISHING. IT STAYS AFLOAT NEARBY, SECURE A SHORT, POINTED PIECE OF IRON PIPE ON STAFF'S END FOR ROCKY STREAM BEDS. DISJOINT FLY ROD WITH LINE ON FOR RISKY CROSSINGS.

The wires came from every section of the nation as Mrs. Zaharias, famed golfer called the greatest woman athlete in the world, lay in a Beaumont Hospital and her doctors conducted tests that will determine exactly what is ailing her.

Checkup
"The Babe" won a golf tournament here Sunday—the "Babe" Zaharias Open, named for her—and planned to continue on the tour. But she stopped off in Ft. Worth for a physical checkup. The examination sent her back to Beaumont and friends in Ft. Worth said her ailment meant the end of her athletic career.

Her doctor here, Dr. W. E. Tatum, would not say what the malady was, explaining that he must finish his tests and X-rays before he could give a definite diagnosis.

The report is due today.

Mates Elect Spahn

Milwaukee (AP)—Pitcher Warren Spahn was named player representative of the Milwaukee Braves yesterday before the club left for Boston and a two-game exhibition series with the Boston Red Sox. Spahn succeeds Earl Torgeson, who was traded by the Braves to Philadelphia last winter.

Cubs Receive Good News From Hospital

Chicago (AP)—The Chicago Cubs had good news from the hospital front yesterday concerning outfielder "Hank" Sauer and shortstop Roy Smalley.

Sauer, the National League's most valuable player in 1952, had splints removed from his fractured right little finger and will be able to try hitting practice Monday or Tuesday.

Rest
Smalley, hobbling on an ailing right ankle, underwent a complete physical checkup which showed nothing organically wrong with the elongated infielder.

However, an inflamed tendon sheath on the troubling ankle will require several more weeks' rest.

Cali Ordered To Pay $6,000 In Back Wage

Philadelphia—A fine of $500 and an order to pay his employees over $6000 in back wages due them because of illegal underpayment was levied against Joseph Cali, co-owner of the Imperial Shirt Co., West Bangor and Pen Argyl, by Judge Allan K. Grim in U. S. District Court here.

Cali was found in contempt of court by his violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act and a judgment brought against him in 1942 by the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

William Hargadine Jr., regional director of the Wage and Hour Divisions, said a re-investigation of the West Bangor plant showed Cali paid less than the minimum wage of 75 cents an hour to 19 employees. Improper overtime for 18 employees working more than 40 hours a week were also found, Hargadine said.

Two employees were paid less than the minimum wage and one improper overtime at the Pen Argyl plant, Hargadine's investigation also disclosed.

Ernest N. Votaw, regional attorney for the Labor Department, said this is the fourth investigation of the Imperial plants. The original investigation in 1942 uncovered minimum wage, overtime and record-keeping violations. As a result the divisions obtained the judgment against the firm and its co-owner restraining them from future violations of the act.

An expanded judgment to include in the restraint Jennie Cali, Bangor, who became a co-owner since the original injunction was issued in 1942, was entered in U. S. District Court this week.

Also named in the expanded judgment were:

Harry Cali and John Cali, both of West Bangor, and Ernest Cali, Bangor, all partners in the Seasonal Sportswear Co., Tobyhanna, Pa.

Hargadine said that the Seasonal plant would manufacture these women's blouses and then send them to the Imperial plant for all trimming, pressing and packing operations.

The Cali family attempted to avoid payment of overtime, Votaw said, by having employees work in one plant during the day and at night in another.

Thus, an employee working 40 hours in one plant and 20 in another, would receive only straight time for 60 hours, rather than time and a half over 40 hours as required by the act.

Separate records were kept to make it appear as though the employee was not working in excess of 40 hours per week for any one of the Calis, Hargadine charged. As a result of this latter practice, record-keeping violation charges were also lodged against the defendants.

Ernest, Harry and John Cali, partners in the Seasonal Sportswear firm, have agreed to pay over $700 in back wages as a result of this latter action, Votaw announced.

Cancer Film Being Shown At Theaters

Local moviegoers in both boroughs will have a chance to see the American Cancer Society's widely-acclaimed cartoon on cancer detection this week and next. Owners and managers of the Sherman theater, Stroudsburg and the Grand theater, East Stroudsburg, have arranged to show the film from special 35-millimeter prints as a part of their regular bill.

Showings at the Sherman may be seen throughout the day today (it has been shown there the past three days).

The Grand will show the cartoon today, Sunday and Monday as part of its regular bill.

Titled "Man Alive!" the animated film was produced by United Productions Associates for the ACS under direction of Stephen Bosustow.

"Man Alive!" was nominated for an "Oscar" this year in the documentary short subjects division.

Monroe County ACS workers yesterday expressed deep appreciation to local theater owners for booking the film.

In discussing the cartoon, officials point out specifically that it is done in a "hopefully humorous manner . . . so that no one feels bad after seeing it."

Planting Of Dogwood Tree Marks Arbor Day Observance

State Teachers College campus got its second pink dogwood tree in three years this week in observance of Arbor Day.

Paid for by contributions from the pupils of the college Laboratory School, the new tree took its place ten feet away from a similar one planted three years ago.

Fifth grade boys, assisted by a representative of LaBar's Nursery, dug the hole for the tree. Arbor Day services began as the school patrol escorted pupils from the school building to the planting site.

With Joan Ingram and Gail France, president and vice president of the school student council, an announcer's program observing Arbor Day was carried out.

Included on the program were the following selections: "America," group singing; "Little Bluebird," kindergarten; "Planting Seeds," first grade; "Tweet, Tweet, Tweet," second grade; "Meaning of Arbor Day," Kenny Miller and Sandra Radler, grade four; a description of the ground breaking by fifth graders; "What Do We Do When We Plant a Tree?" by Gary Kester, grade five; "All Things Beautiful," grade six; planting of the tree, fifth grade boys, "Trees" by the glee club and "Prayer Perfect" by grade four.

McWilliams' Bail Is Set At $2,500

Stroudsburg Peace Justice William N. Walton yesterday set bail of $2,500 on William McWilliams, 23, of 40 N. Third St.

McWilliams is now confined to county jail on a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

The charge grew out of McWilliams' alleged slugging of William Van Why, 25, of 9 S. Ninth St., Sunday night, March 29.

Van Why was taken to General Hospital where he was still a patient last night. Hospital officials listed his condition as "good", however.

Stroudsburg Police Chief James McConnell said last night he had talked with Van Why during the day.

McConnell then discussed the case with Walton prior to setting of the $2,500 bail.

McWilliams, who was sought by Stroudsburg police two days, then reported to them, told Patrolmen John Baujan and William Coolbaugh he had an argument with Van Why after the two men had returned from making a round of taverns in New Jersey.

According to McWilliams, the argument centered around Van Why's refusal to drive him home.

The two men were sitting in Van Why's parked car at the foot of Foxtown Hill, McWilliams told police.

When Van Why "dozed", police

Woman Arrives From England To Visit Daughter

Effort—A mother and daughter were reunited here after seven years.

Mrs. Gladys Moysey, of Bristol, England arrived in the States aboard the Queen Mary and is spending a two-month visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wernert of Hotel Pohopoko here. Joining in the reunion also are the Wernerts' three children, Frank, Linda and John.

said, McWilliams became angry. He picked up an automobile jack and hit Van Why with it, they added.

Australia had 81,000 immigrants in the first nine months of 1952.

Three Deed Transfers Recorded

Three property transfers were recorded yesterday at Court House.

Deeds filed at the office of the register and recorder showed the following properties changed hands:

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Bittenbender, Stroudsburg, sold a Colbert St. residence to Mr. and Mrs. James H. Groner; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis F. Tucker, Pocono Town-

Youth Center To Hold Dance

Round dancing will be featured tonight at the twin-borough American Legion Youth Center.

Dancing begins at 8:30; ends at 11:30. Music will be provided by Lowell Fellman's orchestra.

Center officials last night issued an appeal to those attending the Saturday night dances to make larger silver donations, if possible. Silver collection has fallen off drastically, they said, during the past two months, so that the center is unable to finance large orchestras. Marlene Sabatine will be in charge of kitchen detail tonight. Bob Hinton will supervise games.
